FLORIDA BOBCAT

Lynx rufus floridanus

FUN FACTS

- Brandywine Zoo's bobcat, Squeakers, came from the Audubon Zoo, where she was brought in as a cub from a wildlife rehabilitator with her sister.
- Bobcats are able to take down prey animals eight times their own weight and can leap a distance of ten feet.

THREATS & CONSERVATION

One of the biggest concerns for the bobcat is that they are being hunted and trapped for their fur pelts. Due to urban and agricultural expansion, the bobcat is also losing much of its natural range.

class
mammal

biome
temperate forest

diet
carnivore

body temp
endotherm

biorhythm
crepuscular

birth
viviparous

interaction
solitary

habitat
terrestrial